

ILLINOIS SALE TAX BILL SENT TO GOV. HORNER

BEER-WINE BILL MAY BE PASSED BEFORE EVENING

Senate Leaders Hold No Doubt Of Quick Enactment There

Washington, March 16—(AP)—The 32 per cent beer and wine bill headed toward certain approval in the Senate today, despite contention by prohibitionists that it constituted "nullification" of the Constitution.

Party leaders were hopeful of its approval by late afternoon, as Senators Sheppard (D. Tex.), and Borah (R. Idaho), assailed the measure.

The Texan, a sponsor of the Eighteenth Amendment, told the Senate the bill would result in "untold waste and ruin to this republic."

Wine Is Included

Borah, his voice booming to the crowded galleries, said there was nothing in the bill to prevent return of the saloon which he characterized as "the most hideous institution which civilized society ever had to deal."

The Senate approved an amendment to legalize wine as well as beer of 3.2 per cent by weight and subject it to the same tax of $5 a barrel.

The intention of Democratic leaders, was to let the members

Beer License In Dixon Is Discussed—

With the prospect of the return of beer in the near future, members of the city council are considering the matter of licensing places of business dispensing the amber fluid. One member of the council in discussing the prospect of the sale of beer in Dixon today favored a city license of $100 annually after considering the tax imposed by the government on each barrel of beer, the government tax required of the wholesaler and the $20 federal tax exacted of the retailer.

Considering that with the return of beer that there will be a rush of applications for city licenses, the commissioner stated that in his opinion, a number of dealers would cease to handle beer after a few months. For this reason, the commissioner favored the payment of the license in advance and in monthly installments.

talk themselves out today so the bill could be agreed upon and delivered to President Roosevelt by Saturday.

Such quick enactment, in response to the President's 72-word message sent up Monday, would make beer legal before April 15 in the states where state laws do not prohibit.

Possible Stumbling Block

There appeared, though, a possible stumbling block toward speedy enactment, in addition to speeches by Borah (R. Idaho) and others, on the question of constitutionality.

That was the Senate Finance committee's amendment to the House bill to legalize wines and fruit juices of 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight. California grape growers informed their Senators that was worse than nothing, and asked them to try to permit naturally fermented beverages of 10 to 12 per cent.

Johnson (R. Cal.) said if it were feasible he would offer an amendment to increase the alcoholic content of wines. If it were not, he said he would support a separate wine bill sponsored in the House by Representative Lea (D. Cal.).

House leaders, fearing the inclusion of wine in the measure might endanger its constitutionality, resisted attempts to broaden the beer bill when it was up there.

There was no doubt in any responsible leader's mind, however, that the measure to modify the Volstead law so as to permit at least the sale of beer—and raise an estimated $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 in taxes annually—would be law very soon.

McWilliams Has Lost Much Weight

Joliet, Ill., March 16—(AP)—Brooding over his approaching death in the electric chair, Russell McWilliams has lost 15 pounds since he was brought to the state penitentiary Feb. 22.

The 18-year-old lad, who killed a Rockford street car conductor and has been doomed to death three times for the crime, has been placed under constant guard in the death cell. Prison officials said he means continually and asks why he must die. Lately McWilliams has been refusing food from time to time.

He is under sentence to die April 21, and his attorneys indicated they would appeal to Governor Horner for clemency instead of making an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Real estate sales registered in the conveyance office at New Orleans for January 1933 represented a value of $407,700.

No New Illinois Federal Reserve Banks Given Permit To Open Last Night Or Today; Open State Banks

Hopes of Dixon Banks Blasted By Today's Announcements

Hopes of patrons of Dixon's banks that they would be permitted to reopen for business today were dashed when word came from the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago this morning that no Illinois Federal Reserve member banks were given permits to open last night or today.

EVIDENCE OF VICTORY

New York, March 16—(AP)—The banks of the Wabash—and of all the land—were clicking again today, innervated not only by the flow of new currency but by continuing evidence of reborn national confidence.

Roosevelt, in speaking to the people of America last Sunday night, cautioned that the mechanical routine necessary for the rehabilitation of banking was in itself a heavy chore and might not be accomplished as swiftly as hoped for. The major part of the job has been done, however, with even greater speed and less confusion than had been anticipated.

Results Reflected

The results reflected themselves today in these significant conditions:

1. Thousands of banks, closed by the national and state banking holidays, have reopened, most of them on unrestricted bases;
2. Every section of the country now finds its banking facilities restored;
3. Hoarding has been checked;
4. Gold, hidden in fear, has been routed out and returned to a live support of American money under regulations to prevent its escape from usefulness;
5. Clearance of checks on a national scale has been resumed;
6. Tide Has Turned
7. Legislation has been turned from hysterical withdrawal to renewed deposit of funds;
8. The tide has been turned from hysterical withdrawal to renewed deposit of funds;
9. Legislation has been formulated to provide regulation under which the American public need have no future misgivings concerning its deposited cash;
10. Talk of scrip—a horrid word to "sound money" torchbearers—has been shelved as a general expedient of exchange, so rapid has been the return of currency to circulation;
11. Dealings in commodities and securities have been resumed;
12. The nation's business has begun to sit up and take notice.

MORE STATE BANKS OPEN

Chicago, March 16—(AP)—The number of Illinois state banks reopened under order of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett since conclusion of the recent nation-wide banking holiday, increased considerably today.

Barrett added 25 to the list last night in addition to the 11 he permitted to resume business yesterday. Last night's list included two in Chicago and 23 in downstate cities which he said could reopen.

AGRICULTURAL, UNEMPLOYMENT BILLS COMING

Will Be Submitted To Congress Late Today President Says

BULLETIN

Washington, March 16—(AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to submit only his farm relief program in the message going to Capitol Hill late today.

Washington, March 16—(AP)—Without waiting for the farm aid message promised from the White House before night fall, leaders of the House gave assurance today that the agricultural legislation would be passed and sent to the Senate by the end of the week.

The actual draft of the bill, like President Roosevelt's message, was being completed this morning. Secretary Wallace sought to have it ready for Congress immediately after the message was read.

The message, described by White House aides as a terse 600 words, covering both farm and unemployment relief, was not to be transmitted before 4 o'clock this evening (CST).

Majority Leader Byrns of the House announced he planned to push the bill to passage by the end of the week, putting it immediately up to the Senate.

Leasing Provided

It was learned that in framing the farm bill the principles of the domestic allotment plan have not been abandoned entirely. Leasing of lands engaged in surplus production, will be a principal feature but provision will be included for a processing tax, one of the main points in the allotment plan.

It is through this tax that the measure proposes to provide much of the revenue to make possible retirement of lands by leasing.

Representatives of farm organizations, whose suggestions formed the base for the bill proposed that Wallace be given broad powers to select from many plans in working out methods of production curtailment covering cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, rice, cattle, sheep, tobacco, milk and its products.

They recommended that the Secretary have authority to work out trade agreements between producers, processors and others interested in given commodities, with power to prescribe regulations covering the marketing of each not to be reached.

Their proposal had been modified in several respects in the draft prepared by Wallace with the assistance of Rexford G. Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, Wallace's newly named economic advisor.

Against Recess

Unwilling to give assent to a recess, the President hastily whipped into shape these additional measures which he regards as on the constructive side of the urgent legislation now going through the new Congress.

The farm bill is in the nature of a one-year experimental proposition including authorization for the government to lease marginal lands and withdraw them from the field of production. Almost all crops would be covered.

The nearness of the new planting season impelled Roosevelt to this experimental expediency.

Broad proposals are in mind for unemployment relief but even before a full agreement is possible, the President intends to get started some means of making jobs.

His program calls for authorization of unexpended federal appropriations for reforestation in national forests. He believes at least 200,000 men, now idle in the cities, particularly in the east, can be shifted to the areas for this vital work.

Harvesting of the 1932-33 oyster crop from the Chesapeake bay to the gulf of Mexico gave employment to about 17,000 men.

FINAL PASSAGE OF ECONOMY ACT TODAY ASSURED

House Will Accept All Amendments Attached By Senate

BULLETIN

Washington, March 16—(AP)—The House this afternoon passed the amended economy bill, completing congressional action and sending it to the White House.

Washington, March 16—(AP)—Assured by the White House that the Senate changes in the economy bill were acceptable to President Roosevelt, House leaders sent the measure today toward speedy acceptance of the amendments to expedite it to the Chief Executive.

A dispute at the outset of the session prevented the immediate agreement to the changes; but they were submitted promptly to the special Economy committee and brought back to the floor after it had approved them.

One hour was set for debate and a vote was to be had at the end of that time. By mid-afternoon, House leaders expected the measure would be on its way to the White House for signature.

Immediate action at the outset of the session was blocked by objections by Representative Shannon (D. Mo.).

Senate Vote 62 to 13

As passed, 62 to 13, by the Senate last night, the measure included a host of amendments, although only a few were considered of major import. It was estimated that these took $10,000,000 from the total annual savings, but the bill still would give the President authority to reduce veterans expenditures and federal salaries upward of $500,000,000.

Since the amendments made no drastic changes in the power the President had asked, House Democratic leaders left to him the decision as to whether he would agree to them.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader, even before the bill was returned to the House from the Senate, said that his branch was ready to do what the President asked.

"If the President says the amendments are all right," Byrns had said, "we can dispose of the bill in half an hour. If he says no, we are ready to back him up to the limit."

All Predict Passage

All predicted, though, that the tremendous support which had pushed the measure so far through Congress would send it to the House before night.

That support saw only four Democratic Senators—Clark of Missouri, Long of Louisiana, McCarran of Nevada, and McGill of Kansas—voting against the bill as it passed the Senate. One other of that party, Overton of Louisiana was paired against it, and 43 Democrats voted for it.

As sent back to the House, the bill would:

Let the President have unusual authority to cut pensions and salaries of those of the Civil War.

Reduce Civil War veterans' benefits 10 per cent for a year.

Permit the President to cut the pay of civil and military federal employees to establish the same ratio between income and living costs that obtained in the first six months of 1928, provided no reduction exceeded 15 per cent.

Cut salaries of House members and Senators from $10,000 to $8,500 those of the Vice President and Speaker from $15,000 to $12,750.

Says President Is Sales-Minded

Washington, March 16—(AP)—Edgar Kobak, president of the Advertising Federation of America, thinks President Roosevelt is "sales-minded" and "knows the value of selling his plans to the public."

In an address to the Advertising Club of Washington today, Kobak said:

"The President is living up to the best principles of merchandising by selling his produce to the people most interested in it. This policy not only makes the product more saleable, but in this case makes the public more anxious and willing to do the things it must do to help lift the nation out of the gloom into which it has descended. I think he has taken the veil of secrecy away from affairs in Washington."

Farley May Ask Two Cent Postage

Washington, March 16—(AP)—The new Postmaster General, James A. Farley, may ask Congress to restore the two-cent rate on first class postage.

He is having a survey made now, he told newspapermen, to see what can be done about the postal deficit. If that study shows the reduction would increase volume sufficiently, he will request the legislation "to restore the two-cent stamp" in place of the present three-center.

With the jig saw puzzle the current craze, Dixon has developed a genius along this line. Albert Peterson has installed equipment and is making the puzzles daily. He recently completed work on one puzzle which contained almost 500 pieces.

HOW THEY VOTED

Representative John P. Devine of Dixon, Democrat, voted for the sales tax bill in the Illinois House yesterday afternoon, while Representatives Henry Allen of Lyndon and Dennis Collins of DeKalb, Republicans, opposed the bill.

SONG BIRDS SHOT

Rev. A. B. Whitcomb reported to the Telegraph today that while walking near Grand Detour yesterday he found a cardinal which had been wounded in the wing by a rifle shot and a song bird with one of its legs shot off. A resident of the village reported to him that illegal hunting of ducks on the river near there was also suspected.

THREE SUITS STARTED

Three new suits have been filed with Circuit Clerk Edwin Rosecrans. A Gueffroy, represented by H. C. Warner, has brought narrative and cognovit action against Amelia Smice, for when Judge Leech appears as counsel. Charles B. Wrigley and Harold Wrigley, partners doing business under the firm name and style of Charles B. Wrigley & Son of Lee, represented by H. C. Warner, have brought action in narrative and cognovit against Christine Hanson who is represented by Anna M. Moore. Philip Niebergall has appealed a suit against Albert Stokes of Paw Paw from the justice court of Alfred Burnett to recover a claim in the amount of $65. At a jury trial Feb. 28, the jury returned a verdict in the sum of $42.50, which has been appealed to the circuit court.

"DOC" SURPRISED

Dr. Raymond Worsley was detained at his home last evening after supper despite his efforts to keep an appointment, and about 7 o'clock several friends arrived to inform him that March 16 was his birthday anniversary. Mrs. Worsley had succeeded in detaining her husband, who was too surprised to leave the house, and a delightful evening was enjoyed. The victim of the complete surprise was reported to have received many useful presents among which were found some very practical antiques.

Unofficially it was announced this morning that while "Doc" was completely surprised, not suspecting any observance at least until today, he was very proud of the unique remembrances of the occasion. Among the presents was a five-year-old cheese which he prizes very highly.

IN COUNTY COURT

A hearing on the right of property procedure was being conducted before Judge Leech in the County Court today in which the Northern Illinois Finance Company of DeKalb is the plaintiff and John Locaccio and other are defendants. Two Chicago attorneys are appearing for the defendants.

Edward Mealy and Richard Reilly of this city were arrested last evening about 6:30 west of the city on the Rock Island road by Sheriff Fred Richardson and were lodged in the county jail. Informations charging Mealy with the operation of an automobile while in an intoxicated condition and an intoxication charge in Reilly's case were to be filed in the County Court this afternoon, it was reported.

Restrictions Lifted On Fluctuations In Grain Price

New York, March 16—(AP)—The big forward push in security markets spread to the country's leading commodity exchanges today, adding huge sums to the quoted value of stocks, bonds, wheat, corn, rye, cotton and other "prosperity" measuring stocks.

While shares on the New York Stock Exchange were extending yesterday's sensational gains by $1 to more than $3, the grain pit at Chicago was witnessing a wildly bullish opening. Extreme advances were restricted by special regulation, but wheat jumped the limit of 5 cents a bushel and corn, up 3 cents, gained all that was allowable.

New York cotton prices soared $3.50 to nearly $5 a bale, later meeting some profit-taking sales which reduced this range.

Ticker Far Behind

Trading in stocks here was so tumultuous that quotation-reporting facilities were swamped and the ticker fell as much as eight minutes behind actual transactions on the floor. The market boiled up at the opening, subsided a bit under realizing and then returned close to the higher levels.

United States government bonds were again sharply higher, some of the Treasuries showing net gains of a point or two well before noon. Domestic corporation loans felt the push of optimism; many issues rose in the neighborhood of $10 per $100 obligations.

Twenty minutes after the market opened the ticker had fallen six minutes behind actual transactions on the floor of the exchange.

Blocks of 1,000, to more than 5,000 shares appeared frequently in the list of favorite shares.

Traders Took Profits

Initial transactions showed only small gains as traders took hasty profits on yesterday's sweeping advance, but the market was soon storming ahead again under a volume that exceeded yesterday's rate of turnover.

The "beer" stocks led the advance with further sharp gains, but as trading wore on, large scale profit taking in many issues was indicated by the churning about of prices.

Owens-Illinois Glass shot up during the first half hour $3.75 to $45.25, making a two-day gain of $11.25. Crown Cork & Seal surged up $2.12 to $23.50, a gain since March 3 of $7.50.

Other gains in the first half hour were American Telephone, up $1.25 to $104.25, General Electric, $1.12 to $15.87, Westinghouse, Electric $1.75 to $28.75, U. S. Steel Common $1.25 to $33.37, Sears Roebuck 1.25 to $21.75, Delaware & Hudson 1.50 to $51.50. Case got up $2.50 to $50, then lost 75 cents of its gain, Union Pacific, after opening at $79, off $1.25, regained about half its loss.

GRAIN PRICES MOUNT

Chicago, March 16—(AP)—Wheat prices boomed upward at the start of trading today, registering a 5 cents a bushel advance on the initial transactions. The advance drove prices to the maximum limit set by the directors yesterday and carried the May delivery up to 53 1/2 cents a bushel, July to 53 1/2 cents and September to 55.

Not until the first half hour of wild scrambling for wheat at the highest price since October 22, had past, was enough wheat offered to cause a drop of a quarter of a cent a bushel from the lid price. The selling came from the east, brokers said.

There was no indication that the agents for the Federal Farm Board were selling any of the 30,000,000 bushels still held by it out of the many millions bought in the past in an effort to stabilize prices.

Fred H. Clutten, secretary of the Board of Trade, announced in the pit a few minutes before closing that restrictions limiting prices compared with the close on March 3, will be withdrawn effective the close of trading tomorrow, March 17.

The restrictions were imposed by the directors before business opened today. They limited price fluctuations on wheat to 5 cents a bushel, corn to 3 cents, oats to 2 cents, rye to 4 cents and barley to 3 cents. Practically all of the restrictions on initial transactions and remained there most of the day. Oats were the only grain to fall to reach the limit and that grain fell short by only a fraction of a cent.

Stocks generally continued their rising tendency in transactions on the Stock Exchange today. All leading issues which advanced from fractions to as much as 15 points yesterday, were up again.

Quaker Oats, leading ground grainer yesterday with 14 point advance, was up 12 1-2 today. Other issues were active, but advances generally were quoted in fractions.

Here Are Main Things Economy Bill Would Do

Washington, March 16—(AP)—The economy bill is designed to:

- Reduce federal salary and veterans' costs $500,000,000 a year.
- Permit federal and military pay cuts up to 15 per cent.
- Give members of House and Senate $8,500 instead of $10,000 a year.
- Pay the Vice President and Speaker $12,750 instead of $15,000.
- Let President Roosevelt, if he desires, reduce his pay from $75,000 to $64,750.
- Restrict veterans' disability benefits largely to those whose ailments are attributable to service.

Remove the provision that certain constitutional bills may be presumed to have been caused by service. Authorize a new survey of benefits to veterans including and since the Spanish-American war.

Cut Civil War pensions 10 per cent for one year.

Let the President decide whether veterans with non-service connected disabilities shall be allowed hospitalization.

Authorize the Executive to rule that no persons with an income above any amount he fixes shall receive a pension.

Make final all decisions by the Veterans Administration under presidential regulations, and bar court appeals.

Prevent emergency officers from obtaining retirement pay unless the disabilities causing retirement began between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918.

REPORTS GIVEN SUPERVISORS ON COUNTY'S FUNDS

Claim Of Mrs. Spratt Is Considered In Closed Session

The Board of Supervisors was in closed session the greater part of the time yesterday afternoon discussing the suggested settlement of the claim of Mrs. John Spratt, of Franklin Grove, who asks approximately $10,000 for the death of her husband last December, in the collapse of the Crosby Lake bridge across Franklin Creek west of Franklin Grove. State Attorney Edward Jones and County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake were present at the session.

At the meeting of the board this morning the Judiciary Committee recommended the allowance of a blind pension to S. J. Wilkins of Nelson township.

Several reports of committees were read to the open board this morning including the regular quarterly report of Coroner Frank M. Banker, Superintendent Willis Fry of the County Home, the claim of a tubercular and bovine tuberculosis committee. The finance committee presented several reports: the tuberculosis sanatorium, fund the motor fuel tax fund which has a balance of $10,979.52; the mothers pension fund with a balance of $613.55. The report showed that a total of $4,182.00 had been paid out of this fund during the months of December, January, and February, and it was expected that the finance committee would present a recommendation to the board asking for an additional appropriation to provide for the payment of the orders for the month of March. The report of the county highway fund showed a balance of $24,491.82. The general fund of the county, according to the finance committee's report, contains a balance of $68,990.25.

Grand Jury Probes Ill. Life Affairs

Chicago, March 16—(AP)—A Criminal Court grand jury acted to gain possession for the purpose of inspection of the records and books of the Illinois Life Insurance Company, now in receivership by issuing a subpoena duces tecum against William Laton, auditor of the Continental-Illinois Company, and H. M. Lloyd, manager of the Chicago Safe Deposit Company.

The jury is studying operations of the company. A previous jury indicted three former officers of the firm, James W. Ernest J., and Raymond W. Stevens on embezzlement charges.

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., March 16—(AP)—Passage of companion measures to the 3 per cent sales tax bill, was abruptly stopped today when an attack on the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission developed during the roll call on Senate bill 160, extending the life of the commission until 1935.

Springfield, March 16—(AP)—Only Governor Henry Horner's signature remained today to make the three per cent state sales tax effective.

By a vote of 37 to 1, the Senate concurred in the seven amendments added to the bill in the House. One member declined to vote.

Four of the seven amendments merely clarify the terms of the bill. The others require tax merchants to mark the amount of tax paid on the outside of each article sold, forbid him advertising he has absorbed the tax, and lastly require hearings on alleged violations of the law in the county where the tax is due.

Meantime Governor Horner ordered the Director Joseph J. Rice of the Department of Finance, which is charged with administering the tax, to start immediately in setting up the machinery for its collection. Retailers are required to make a monthly return of the amount of their sales to this department, which has been empowered to investigate records and hold hearings whenever a question arises.

$20,000 Put Into Circulation In Amboy--

Amboy and vicinity were the happiest spots in Lee county today, due to the enterprise of the Amboy Milk Products Co., of which Harry Badger is president. Through its Chicago connections the company was able to pay off its entire milk and factory payroll this morning in currency, over $20,000 being placed in circulation as a result. Every Amboy business house felt its immediate effect and smiles of confidence were the order of the day.

ered to investigate records and hold hearings whenever a question arises.

Surplus To Schools

Companion bills are on third reading in the House, and if passed today, will go immediately to the Senate for concurrence in amendments. One amendment passed yesterday provided that if counties do not need the sales tax for unemployment relief, their share, determined by population, shall go to schools of the county, common schools first and then, if any funds are left, then to high schools.

A rider in this bill, which would have required common school districts to reduce their levy for educational purposes twenty per cent, was wiped out yesterday, and also a provision that would have required common school districts getting aid from the sales tax, to cut their expenses to 70 per cent of

Meeting of World Wide Guild Tuesday

The March meeting of the World Wide Guild of the First Baptist church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Crystal Tilton, 421 College Avenue. Miss Marie Henson had charge of the devotion for the meeting, which opened with the singing of several songs. Sentences were offered by Miss Pansy Stoneman, who read from the third chapter of Matthew from the 1st to the 5th verse.

The minutes were read and approved. Passages of Scripture answered the roll call. The Guild Covenant was repeated in unison. Miss Ethel Christner had the mission study for the evening, the subject being "Life's Decisions on an Ocean Beach," which was very much enjoyed. The remainder of the evening was spent in sewing. At the close of the meeting very tempting refreshments were served. The meeting closed by singing, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love," and repeating the benediction.

Special Service, Supper, Card Party on St. Patrick's Day

The congregation of St. Patrick's Catholic church will observe St. Patrick's day at a special church service Friday morning and at a supper and card party Friday evening. The Rev. Thomas Walsh, pastor of the parish has announced.

The Rev. John Hackett of Oregon, will deliver the sermon at solemn high mass to be held at 9 A. M. Women of the church will be in charge of the card party and supper in the evening at the Elks' club. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 P. M. and card games will start at 8:15 P. M.

During the supper the following musical program will be given with Frank Gorham in charge; piano and violin selections, Tom and Harry Mosher; vocal selections, Helen O'Brien, Frances Doyle, William Pinefield and William Keenan, with Frank Gorham at the piano.

The Grace Missionary Society Met Tuesday

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Grace Evangelical church met on Tuesday afternoon at the church. The meeting opened by all singing "The Morning Light Is Breaking." Mrs. A. V. Hartman had charge of the devotion assisted by different members. Mrs. C. G. Shuts read the leaflet, "Her Gift." Mrs. Phyllis Heckman sang a solo, which all enjoyed. Mrs. Fred Kroehler gave the fifth and sixth chapters of the lesson study, "Lady Fourth, Daughter of China," interesting to everyone. All joined in singing "Tell Me the Story of Jesus." Miss Jeanette Dewey read an article in the Missionary World "Keeping Step with Jesus—In Stewardship." Miss Rilla Webster read, "The Ninety and Nine," a new version.

Mrs. Sarah Reis, the president took charge of the business, after which all were invited to the basement where tempting refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. Mrs. Vernon Schrock and Mrs. Mae Sennett were the hostesses for the afternoon.

To Hold Regional Conference Librarians In Dixon May 1

Mrs. Margaret Scriven, librarian at the Dixon public library is sending out invitations to all librarians and their assistants in the northwest Illinois district for a regional conference to be held in this city May 1. Representatives from 40 libraries in the northwest counties will be in attendance. Miss Anna May Price, superintendent of the state library extension division is to preside at the sessions and various subjects pertaining to the cataloging, financing and supplying of public libraries will be discussed. It is expected that more than 50 representatives of libraries, including members of library boards will be in attendance at the regional conference.

Child's Morning Meal Is Important

Children are not able to follow a healthy, normal daily schedule unless they begin with a nourishing breakfast. Nutrition experts have shown that a child is not able to gain enough food values through the day to make up for the lack in school without his breakfast. The children should arise in time to take their showers, have their faces scrubbed, clean handkerchiefs stuck into their pockets, and then should really eat—not just play with—cereal, toast, perhaps a soft boiled egg, fruit, and cocoa or milk. Report cards will show a marked improvement in their rating if appetites are better. For say what you please, the quickest way to a child's brain follows a stomach detour.

SLOW COOKING IMPROVES CHEAPER CUTS OF MEAT

Washington, March 15—(AP)—Cheaper cuts of meat, such as chuck, shoulder, flank, are just as nutritious as the more expensive, but cooking is important, say the federal experts.

Heat, moisture and long, slow cooking are needed. The cheaper cuts make good pot roasts. Swiss steak and stew for the top-of-the-stove methods which require less fuel.

CINE-MODES Necklines Square Up With Style

Ruby Keeler

Right Angles Capture Hollywood's Favor

By NEA Service—
Hollywood, Mar. 16—Necklines are on the square when it comes to being smart right now.

Ruby Keeler has a new black and white printed frock that has a square neck, outlined with pleated orandy, with crisp cape sleeves made of four layers of hand-embroidered orandy. Its belt has an enormous buckle, or shiny metal.

Ann Harding has a lovely blue lace dinner dress, with long sleeves that has a square neck, cut very wide at the sides to give her slender neck an even greater appearance of grace.

At the Biltmore Supper Club, June Visek wore a very springlike dress of green orandy, with deep square neck both front and back, and double-puffed sleeves. In her new New York wardrobe, Claudette Colbert has a black crepe dress with a little guimpe of embroidered orandy, with the black crepe cut square, the white making a tight, round neckline, with little turned-down collar.

A different kind of a square look to the neckline is illustrated by a new brown crepe that Patricia Ellis is wearing. It has a white crepe yoke with a high, turn-down collar, fastened at the back, which sits right down into the brown of the dress in a square old-fashioned, yoke line. The sleeves are pleats of the brown, outlined with the white and the buckle of the belt is a very ornamental metal one—looks like two daisies.

Lona Andre wears a bathing suit of scarlet, with square neckline both front and back. The straps are white and from a distance you can't see how she keeps it on.

White Shrine Patrol Enjoyed Supper and a Dance

The Patrol Team of the White Shrine of Jerusalem together with their husbands and close friends, enjoyed an exceptionally fine picnic supper at the Dixon Masonic Temple last evening at the conclusion of the party, the retiring captain, Mrs. Leila Bush was presented with a beautiful gift from the team to show their appreciation of her leadership during the past year. Following the supper a much larger number of guests, in fact about sixty couples, joined with the ladies of this popular organization in enjoying a most delightful dancing party. The music was exceptionally good and everyone present forgot that there ever had been anything of the party with such enthusiasm that repeated requests for similar parties were expressed. This was one of the most enjoyable parties that has been held in this beautiful building this year. The change in the spirit of people which has taken place within the last ten days was shown by the friendliness and relaxation of those who attended and they reluctantly permitted the orchestra to stop playing at midnight.

Meeting of W. R. C. Is Held Monday

To Observe Birthday of Miss Lunt

Evanston, Ill., March 16—(AP)—This north shore town is getting ready to observe the 90th birthday of Miss Cornelia Gray Lunt, "the First Lady of Evanston," next Friday.

Representatives of civic organizations, merchants, Northwestern University, the University of Chicago, as well as a host of friends and relatives, including those from afar—New York, Denver, New England—will turn up the wide semi-circular drive to "Anchorfast" for the "big party" that afternoon.

It was to have been a "surprise party." But guests will find the daughter of Orrington Lunt, founder of Evanston and Northwestern University, and the niece of Dr. John Evans for whom this suburb was named and who afterward became territorial governor of Colorado, all dressed up and ready for a "good time."

"I have been smelling a mouse," she confided, "and will I have a grand time."

Mr. and Mrs. Hetler Entertained Benefit Association

The Security Benefit Association held a meeting Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Hetler, at their home on W. First street. After the business meeting five hundred was enjoyed with Mrs. Frank Hettinger and Charles Ruggles being awarded prizes. Refreshments were enjoyed after cards.

It was decided at this meeting that the regular meeting date for the Association hereafter would be the third Thursday of each month instead of the second Wednesday, as it has been heretofore. The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hettinger, 1121 West Third street.

H.S. P.T.A. Will Have Fashion Show And Loan Exhibit

The High School P. T. A. held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon. The High School Glee club sang; the High School orchestra gave selections and the Mother Singers appeared for the first time in several numbers and won immediate approbation.

Principal Frazer addressed the mothers of the senior class in regard to graduation. The P. T. A. will sponsor a loan exhibit and Fashion Revue of other days, the apparel to be displayed on living models, on Friday, March 24th, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon

HAIL THE VEGETABLE PLATE!

Here's A Lenten DISH WITH RELISH

By NEA Service—

Lent glorifies the vegetable plate. Vegetables, cooked just the right amount of time, and seasoned with taste, have the double appeal of looking most tempting and being good for you.

Two things are essential to making the vegetables plate a meal in itself. First, combine the right vegetables. Don't have two from the same general family at the same time, such as Brussels sprouts and cauliflower.

Second, serve bread that has a zest to it, a special decided flavor, such as Boston brown bread, rye rolls or pumpernickel.

One of the nicest things you can do is to take time out to make hot bran muffins. They give an enjoyable edge to the flavor of the meal and, moreover, seem to add just that quality of something to get your teeth into that makes the vegetable plate perfect.

If you are artistic, your vegetable plate can be a lovely picture. You can have it all yellow: turnips, carrots, candied sweets. Or you can have a combination of color that pleases. Excellent is the plate that includes grilled tomatoes. They add something that rounds out a meal the way salads do.

Particularly good is this plate. It has grilled tomatoes, spinach, lima beans and cauliflower. Over it is served piping hot Hollandaise sauce.

Have your plates very hot before you put the vegetables on. Cook vegetables a minimum of time and time them all so that they are done to perfection simultaneously.

and at 7 o'clock in the evening, the admission to be fifteen cents with the children being admitted for ten cents.

HOPE BECKONS THE NATION.

A veteran English newspaper writer, touring in the United States, remarked the other day that it seems to him "a remarkable and wonderful thing" that the temper of the American people has been so cheerful and hopeful during the past fortnight.

"It is something," he said, "that ought to give you confidence and be a cause for gratitude."

This cheerfulness and this hope have indeed been amazing in the depth and firmness of their expression. They come at the sharpest moment of climax of a long and cruel depression—at the very moment when people might be expected to be anything but cheerful and hopeful—and they have been manifested in a solid, unmistakable way.

Back of them there is something more than the mere fact of a change in administrations at Washington; something more than a simple feeling that we have in power a government that will act. It is almost as if the American nation felt that dramatic appeal was being made to something deep, daring and idealistic in its soul—being made not only by the government but by the voice of history itself.

It has been our nature to dream dreams and to listen to far-off voices. From the very first we have been persuaded that our destiny was not like that of other lands. Hope has always beckoned to the horizon. We have never been so splendid as at those moments of crisis when we have to fight to keep our dreams in sight.

There is abroad in the land today a feeling that such a moment is upon us once more. The depression has shown us, at last, the worst that it can do; and thus it has challenged us to show the best that there is in us. The challenge itself has lifted us up.

For we feel, now, that we can begin to go forward once more. We can cut away the things that have encumbered us. We can make experiments, we can be bold, we can sound our trumpets gladly in this final dark hour before the dawn of a new day.

THE PRESIDENT'S SON.

Young Elliott Roosevelt has shown himself a young man of sound good sense and considerable delicacy of feeling by cutting loose from Washington and New York and heading for the far west to establish himself on a cattle ranch.

The President's son had been an advertising man in New York. But he found it almost impossible to solicit business which did not have some connection with Washington. He was offered a host of new jobs, but in almost every case his would-be employers quietly assumed that he would serve as a close-to-the-throne lobbyist at the capital. So he decided to go west, to the ranges where the fact that his father is president will make no difference to anyone.

Being the son of a president is a difficult role for any young man. Elliott Roosevelt has shown excellent judgment in the way he has decided to fill it.

PLUGGING THE SOURCE.

Announcement at Washington that the prohibition enforcement service will hereafter confine its efforts to the suppression of the manufacture and transportation of liquor, leaving the job of raiding speakeasies up to local authorities, seems to be currently accepted as an indication that enforcement will be much less strict than it has been.

It may work out that way, of course. But it would be perfectly possible to argue that such a policy could lead to a far more effective enforcement than anything we have had in the past.

After all, raiding speakeasies does little good if the sources of supply remain open. An excellent way to stem the flood of illicit booze is to attack it at these sources.

A "POCKET BATTLESHIP."

News dispatches describing the launching of the U. S. S. San Francisco, newest of Uncle Sam's "treaty cruisers" of the 10,000-ton variety, referred to the ship as a "pocket battleship"; and it is worth noticing that that is just about what these new warships are, in spite of the fact that technically they are not battleships at all.

Treaty limitations prevent the building of new capital ships. Nevertheless, there is in existence today a naval armament race, and in it the heavy-duty cruiser is the most important element. This ship would be unable to fight for a minute against a dreadnaught; but since the dreadnaught has suffered a decline in relative importance, it is the treaty cruiser which would be apt to bear the brunt of the heavy fighting in any naval war now. These ships are cruisers, but they may yet have to fill the role traditionally filled by battleships.

No public officer worth his salt wants to be free from criticism.—Henry L. Stimson, retiring secretary of state.

Salvation will not be found by continuous conferences.—Premier Mussolini of Italy.

It is important to open the banks, but it is more important to keep them open after they're opened.—Senator Connally of Texas.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Effects of Alcoholic Drinks

Text: Prov. 23:29-32; Is. 28:1-4; Dan. 5:1-4.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 19.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

It is interesting to note the alternative statements of the topic of this lesson. For intermediates and seniors, it is "A Dangerous Enemy," and for young people and adults, it is "The Curse of Intemperance." It is, also, interesting to note that the text of our lesson is taken from three very diverse passages of Scripture. The first from the Book of Proverbs, the second from the Book of Isaiah, and the third from the Book of Daniel; three books that were written at widely different times and that are of different types.

The fact serves to emphasize the way in which the problem of intemperance has been present in every age, and also the way in which it confronts and concerns all classes in society, old and young. It is by no means a new problem, and although we seem at times to make great progress toward its solution, the elements of degradation and temptation that are associated with alcohol seem constantly to lure mankind back into thralldom.

All who realize the evil of intoxicating liquor, and who are seriously concerned about curing the evil regardless of their attitude toward laws and regulations, are agreed today concerning the need of wise and authoritative teaching. There is, also, agreement concerning the need of sobriety and temperance in personal habits. There never was a time in our American life when it was more necessary to emphasize these things.

The fact that many have not been able to support what they have regarded as extreme legislation upon the matter, has tended in many respects to create an opposite reaction. The opposition to prohibition tends to create a recoil toward the freedom and benefit that are falsely associated with the use of liquor. And either because of personal appetite and personal freedom, or because of some supposed benefit to the community through taxes, or in some other way, there arises a defense of liquor and a championship of liquor which serious-minded people even though they may seek to avoid all fanaticism on the subject, cannot but regard with a measure of unease, if not of alarm.

It is well that we should turn to (READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Poor Duncy. He was rather mad, due to the stinging he had had. The bumblebee just laughed and said, "Oh, can't I have my joke?"

"When you shook hands, I couldn't help but sting you so's to hear hear you yelp. I didn't realize that it would give you such a poke."

"Gee, your idea of real fun, if based on just what you have done, is not a very friendly one," said Duncy, with a frown.

"I'm as unlucky as can be. It seems folks always pick on me. Perhaps it is because I act and look just like a clown."

"Hey! Stop the argument right now. Perhaps the bee can show us some interesting sights to look at."

"If he'll do that, it will be slick, and we'll forgive him for his trick. Lead on, old Mister Bumblebee! We'll trail right by your side."

The bee said, "Now you're talking, son. I know where you can have some fun. I'll take you to some honey bees. They're cute as they can be."

"I'm sure that they are working now. 'Twill thrill you all to see just how they gather loads of honey. Come along, now, follow me!"

The honey bees were shortly found. "Just see them scamper all around," cried Windy. "They all carry hods. I wonder what that's for."

"That's what they carry honey in," the big bee answered, with a grin. "They carry honey to a hive and then come back for more."

Just then a tall flower shouted, "Please come over here, you honey bees, and I will fill your hods with honey that is very sweet."

"All right," the small bees promptly said. And then the tall flower dropped its head and started dripping honey. Coppy cried, "My, what a treat!"

(The Times see a large beehive in the next story.)

Everyday Religion

WURRICOES

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

On a rather terrifying page, which may have meant music to his ear, Robert Louis Stevenson offered the prayer: "From witches, warlocks, and wurricoes, good Lord deliver us." Witches we have heard about, but they are no more. Warlocks are just wizards in another garb, and they have also vanished in our fancy. Yet, fictions though they are, they ravage our hearts, darken our homes, spoil our joy, menace our health, and ruin our usefulness these pesky wurricoes!

All the woes wrought by wickedness and sickness, put together, do not equal the misery we bring on ourselves by too much fear and too little faith. On his seventieth birthday Dean Inge said that he had a lot of trouble in life, most of which had never existed at all. It seems that when the supply of trouble does not equal the demand, we manufacture it.

How, then, are these busy, bothersome wurricoes to be dealt with? "No one should sit down under worry," says a noted psychologist; "everyone should act the part of St. George and kill the dragon." Exactly; but how are we to do it? "The great practical point," says the same authority, "is that worry can be understood psychologically."

No doubt; but a lot of big words do not help us to do it. After all, maybe the hint which Stevenson gives us is more definite and practical, as well as more simple. For consider, his words are really a prayer, taking their cue from the Litany, and prayer is the best weapon for fighting wurricoes and all their ilk. If you do not believe it, try it.

Long ago the Psalmist said, "I sought the Lord, and He delivered me from all my fears." If we take our religion seriously and actually use it, there will be no need for the psychologist and his mouth-filling words. A renewal of spiritual faith would heal most of our nervous ills, and, best of all, it would put the quacks out of a job and on the dole.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning 'Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

The Evening Telegraph:
A short time ago there appeared in the "Peoples Column" of the Telegraph an article comparing taxes paid by railroads as against taxes and fees paid by the trucks and buses. To one not getting down to the bottom of facts and reasoning it out, it would appear that the trucks and buses were doing considerable more for this country than were the railroads. Such is not the case! I would like to submit a little article for publication in the "Peoples Column," in answer to the article published a short time ago, written by a man connected with the trucking interests and who lives in Moline. While this article originates in the state of Michigan, it holds true in every state and may change the views of some of your readers. This article was not written by a railroad man, but is the product of a newspaper and expresses their views.

The Grand Rapids, Mich. Press, declines to let pass unchallenged the recent statement of the president of a truck manufacturing company that the "railroads paid the state $7,850,000 in 1932 where as the trucks and buses paid $12,625,000," and in its issue of February 20th makes this answer:
"Of the $7,850,000 which the rails paid in taxes, they received back in subsidies or benefits not one dollar, while virtually all the amount paid by the trucks and buses was spent by the state for the benefit of highway users, including the trucks. The railroads paid for and maintained their own right-of-way, in addition to their payment of taxes. Trucks and buses were furnished their rights-of-way without being called upon to spend anything for their upkeep or maintenance, outside of the fees they were required to pay to the state."

"Let the truck and bus interests answer this query: 'Would they construct their own highways, maintain them and pay taxes on them in exchange for the repeal of all highway taxes on their vehicles? It isn't likely.'"

"The rail-highway transportation issue is becoming an intense one in Michigan, as in other states. It is all the more important that an attempt should be made to evaluate each service according to its merits and to assess against each charges commensurate with their respective obligations to the state, and in consideration of the services of the state to the carriers. Prejudices of the feud between these systems should not be permitted to distort the sound and logical facts of the problem."

Yours truly,
Fair-Minded.

THE SALES TAX

Editor: The Telegraph—In Cook county the sales tax, which passed the House yesterday, will be clearly a welfare measure, but in Lee county it will be primarily a replacement tax reducing the general property tax. Funds raised through the Sales Tax will be credited to the schools.

From estimates made by the Legislature Lee County's proportion of the Sales Tax on the basis of total tax paid on property the Lee county schools should receive at least a quarter of a million dollars. Naturally in normal years the returns will be proportionately greater.

And since figures released by County Treasurer Schrock representing the 1932 levy as $1,133,018-24 the sales tax should even in these times reduce our present levy approximately one-fourth. All of which is widening the tax base so essential to equitable taxation.

Homeless After Quake, Family Eats in Park

Their home destroyed by the disastrous earthquakes that rocked the vicinity, a family is shown sitting on the grass outside an improvised shelter in Lincoln Park, Long Beach, Cal., eating food provided by relief stations. Bread, milk and bottled water were distributed throughout the afflicted area. Guarding against epidemics, authorities asked citizens to apply for vaccination against typhoid.

The one per cent limit on property per $100 assessed valuation. In our recommendations to Governor, January 1, 1933, we requested a limit of one per cent tax on real estate for all purposes of government, based on a "Fair Cash" value whatsoever else may be done in reforming our antiquated revenue system.

The compulsory filing of property schedules under oath. Then put the same authority into the act of assessing that the present law gives to the act of collecting taxes. Amend assessors power to compel citizens to be assessed under oath as to his property plus any additional power needed to list the immense volume of personal property escaping taxation, estimated from twenty-five billion dollars up in Illinois. Subject tax-dodgers to penalty of a triple tax for evasion, refusal, negligence or perjury in making schedules.

Restrict Tax-Exempt Bonding

Enact legislation restricting the issue of tax exempt bonds except in extreme emergencies and then only in short time issues. Bond statutes show there are billions and billions of these tax exempt bonds—which is a part of the billions of the so-called "intangibles" that are evading taxation. Think of a sovereign people being so stupid as to penalize one class of its citizens while enriching another—pleading governmental needs as a justification. Yes, and that in a peoples government with the sovereign power to tax as needed and with four times the property to tax that is being taxed on more according to tax experts. (Especially now that the United States gets all the money it wants as low as one per cent or less.)

Adjust Wages and Salaries

Reduce the wages and salaries of all school, township, county, state and other employees and officers from the lowest to the highest from one-fourth to one-third as would be just and equitable. For then said employees and officers would still have all the buying power they had when wages and salaries were allowed and voted—not because the service rendered is not worth more but because of the taxpayers inability to pay more. The property home owner, the local business man and the farmer are at present penalized and enslaved to support the present rate of governmental expenditures despite the 13th amendment to the Federal constitution prohibiting slavery.

First—Because common sense, patriotism, the economic welfare and property rights of our tax-paying citizens demand it. Because the stability of our government is endangered without it.

Second—Because it is not only unjust but unnecessary that less than one-fifth of all the people should pay the total cost of government. The slogan, "Swat the Rich" is a fool's plaything composed chiefly of prejudice, contributing to much such conditions as we are now facing—inequality of taxation. No self-respecting American wants another to pay his bills, hence will pay his part when given an opportunity.

Third—Because taxes paid on the intangible properties, so called, concern a class of wealth many times the "fair cash" value of real estate. Said taxes concern citizens protected by and business privileged secured through organized government. Such citizens are able to pay for these profitable privileges long enjoyed and for which they have paid nothing directly. Give them an opportunity to pay for these privileges, which without organized government they would not have.

Fourth—Because that government is stupid and incompetent that fail to enact such legislation. Bonding and borrowing have become a sorrowing process—dangerous to continue. Widen the tax base. We must have these sane, equitable principles embodied in our taxing system if our Nation would endure.

Taking from the citizen his home, his farm and his job—breeds contempt for the government that is foolish enough to do it in the name of taxation.

Our taxing machinery is sadly antiquated and must be regenerated and made the more equitable by the wider base of taxation.

Mr. Reader—Taxpayer, if you will study the trend of events and the legislation that is being enacted in the light of these recommendations you will understand more clearly what is being done in your behalf by the Lee County Taxpayers Association.

(Signed)
W. E. Aydelotte, President

The date of the Ogle County convention of Federated Women's Clubs was announced as March 30 instead of March 24 as previously planned. Speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Farrell and Mrs. Heer, state and district presidents, respectively. The meeting is to be held at Stillman Valley and many district officers will also be present at the meeting.

The program of the first March meeting of the Pine Rock Woman's Club was announced as March 30 instead of March 24 as previously planned. Speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Farrell and Mrs. Heer, state and district presidents, respectively. The meeting is to be held at Stillman Valley and many district officers will also be present at the meeting.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Beaman, March 24.

Arrangements for a series of out door band concerts were made by the "City Fathers" at their meeting. Herman O'May, who most capably led the organization last year, will again assume the leadership. A larger organization is anticipated for the coming year as many of the high school students are now ready to participate.

Peter Merritt and Harry Worthington were Dixon callers on last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ralph Sanford, a recent bride, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Sanford, Saturday. The unwrapping and exhibiting of the beautiful gifts presented her, occupied much of the afternoon. Refreshments followed an enjoyable social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. William Prindle and children were guests at the Charles Dailey home Sunday afternoon.

The Community sale scheduled for Saturday, March 11, has been postponed until March 18, at the Ashton Sleep Yards.

Miss Frances Jennings was hostess to the Young People's Missionary Society of the Evangelical church on Monday evening. Miss Frieda Schnell had charge of the topic and Miss Bernice Yenerich, the devotions.

Mrs. W. S. Hart is hostess to the Ashton Woman's club at her home on March 17. The program is in charge of the American Home Department. Mrs. Olive A. Bergeson, Miss Katherine Griffin and Miss Lola Quick, are members of the American Home Department.

Two Forms of Tragedy

We are apt to make too much of the tragedy of death and think so little of the enduring tragedy of some men's lives that we see more to lament for in a life cut off in the midst of usefulness and love than in one that miserably survives all love and usefulness and goes about the world the phantom of itself without hope or joy or any consolation.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

More than 500,000 women in the past three years have become enthusiastic users of Denton's Magnesia creams. Why? Because they found them not just "another cream" among hundreds, but something entirely different. They cleanse the complexion by dissolving dirt through the scientific action of magnesium salts, not merely loosening or rubbing it off or out, as other creams do.

Women, especially those nearing the dangerous thirties, can actually witness the transformation of their complexions, the disappearance of coarse texture, crepey necks, enlarged pores and sagging tissues. And instead, through these new greaseless cleansing and nourishing creams, there comes the soft glowing natural skin of youth itself!

Give Denton's a thorough trial for a week or ten days. Compare it with your present favorite cream (no matter how expensive), then go back (if you can) to old fashioned creams. You will find them economical, too; morning and evening use cost less than a cent a day. Sold on money back guarantee at leading department and drug stores.

CONGRESSMAN ALLEN IS ON POWERFUL BODY

Representative From this
Dist. On Foreign Affairs Com.

Washington, D. C. March 16—Faith and confidence in our people and government are the prime factors of stability during the present crisis according to a statement by Congressman Leo E. Allen, Galena, who Monday was selected as one of eight Republican members of the powerful Foreign Relations committee of the House. Allen is the only G. O. P. member west of the Alleghenies.

Such outstanding men in the Congress as Hamilton Fish of New York and George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts, are the ranking G. O. P. members. S. D. McReynolds, Tennessee, is the Democratic chairman of the committee.

"Confidence in the greatest government on earth will soon bring the people of our nation to another era of prosperity," Mr. Allen said. "I am particularly impressed with the faith of the people in this emergency, by the people of the 13th district which I have the honor to represent in Congress."

The 13th district has not had representation on the Foreign Relations committee for more than 30 years, since the days of the illustrious Robert R. Hitt, who was a member of the committee for more than 20 years and in the closing years of his public career, its chairman. It is Mr. Allen's ambition to render a service as notable as that of his distinguished predecessors, Robert Hitt and John C. McKenzie, who was chairman of the Military Affairs committee.

Commenting upon the sometimes tragic events of the last two weeks Mr. Allen pointed to the fine spirit in which the crisis has been received. "True American citizens will not permit the destruction of their government which has taken years to build," declared the Congressman. It is imperative, he said, that partisanship be laid aside and that every citizen put his shoulder to the wheel. Faith in the government of the people, faith in our institutions of education and religion, faith in the future of the nation—these are the things that will place the country on a sound basis.

Congressman Allen praised the newspapers of the district and of the state for carrying messages of confidence to their thousands of readers.

all of its various phases, experimentally clinically and therapeutically. They have attempted to determine why the stomach does not develop ulcers tend to heal rapidly, while chronic ulcers fail to heal, or else when healed, tend to become active again.

Basic to these considerations is the problem as to what causes ulcers. Approaching the problem this way, one is at once confronted with a number of baffling observations. In this country it is found that men are more subject to the disease than women. In other parts of the world men and women are equally affected.

In America ulcers in the duodenum, the beginning section of the small intestine, are much more common than ulcers in the stomach proper. In Europe the reverse appears to be the case.

Ulcers of the duodenum are more commonly found among those in the 20s and 30s while gastric ulcers are found more commonly among those in the third and fourth decades of life.

There are other extremely interesting phases to the ulcer problem. Thus, gastric ulcers, usually cease to grow when they are about an inch in diameter. Duodenal ulcers are only half as large.

The scientist is prompted to ask why there is a limit to the destructive processes once it is started? Equally puzzling is the observation that one seldom finds the sufferer affected by more than one ulcer.

It would seem that the causes which produce one ulcer might just as well produce another, or more. Peptic ulcers also appear to be confined to one or two small areas in the stomach and the bowel.

By FRANCES McFADDEN

East Grove—An impressive funeral service was held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock for Philip Murphy at St. Patrick's church, Maytown. Rev. Urban Halbmaier was celebrant of the Solemn Requiem High Mass, Rev. Thomas Fynn of Dixon, deacon and Rev. J. Driscoll of Walton, sub-deacon. Rev. J. Thierly of Dixon, Master of Ceremonies. Other priests present in the sanctuary were Rev. Robert Troy, Amboy and Rev. Leech of Dixon.

The church was filled to capacity and was the largest ever held in Maytown.

Philip Murphy, son of John and Bridget (Fogarty) Murphy was born in East Grove township fifty-six years ago. His entire life was spent at or near the place of his birth. He had been in failing health for some time and entered the Dixon hospital for treatment at which place he passed away on March 3, 1933. The direct cause of death being Bright's disease.

The letters "L. S." on legal documents are the abbreviation of Latin "locus signilli," meaning place for the seal. The Romans used to take off their signet rings and imprint their seals on all documents, and the present legal practice is a survival of that custom.

By NEA Service
The roughhouse play of the late Kid Gleason created many humorous situations, not the least of which was the stunt the iron-fisted and soft-hearted Kid pulled on Dan Howley, former manager of the Cincinnati Reds, now leader of the Toronto ball club.
Dan relates the incident as follows:
"One holiday we were playing morning and afternoon games. Between games the Kid came into our dressing room with sandwiches for me.
"I told him they looked rotten and I wouldn't eat any. I was at a safe distance when I said it. But he didn't make a comeback. He just walked out the door.
"That wasn't at all like him, and I was afraid he was offended. I had just put on a new shirt and a new tie and I thought I'd go over to Gleason and patch things up as soon as I put on my trousers. Just then the door opened, and I looked up just in time to receive a juicy huckleberry pie right on the chin."

WAS TY COBB WRONG?
Ten years ago the Detroit Tigers had a bat boy named Frank Reiber. The kid loved baseball. He used to hustle to the park early so he could play around with a ball before the teams got out on the field.
Frank chased flies in the outfield, practiced in the infield and frequently warmed up pitchers. His enthusiasm was boundless.
Cobb noticed the lad's earnestness. One day the boy confided that it was his ambition to become a big leaguer. But Cobb gave him the shock of his life.
"You have all the makings of a great ball player," said Ty, "except for your feet. They don't track right."

HE KEPT RIGHT ON—
The kid almost cried. Then he asked what was the matter with his feet.
"They point the wrong way," replied Cobb, ruthlessly. "Your dogs point outward. Men with feet like that don't get very far in baseball. The best players have feet that point in. They're pigeon-toed."

Frank looked lugubrously at his feet. Then he looked at other feet around him. For weeks he carefully surveyed big league players' feet. Then he came to his own quiet conclusion—Cobb was wrong. And he started out seriously to prove just that. That Cobb was wrong.

He kept right on playing ball, with school teams and semi-pro clubs. In 1930 Uncle Frank Navin decided to give him a break. He sent young Reiber to Evansville. He was a second baseman then. Evansville sent him to Fort Smith, Ark. In 1931 Evansville got him again, this time as a catcher. Last year he was farmed to Beaumont in the Texas League.

STERLING DROPS SECTIONAL GAME TO FREEPORTERS
Chicago, March 16—(AP)—Except for the details of Rock Island and Waukegan, favorites have survived the first round shelling in the sectional engagements of the Illinois prep basketball championship drive.
Rock Island, winner in the Moline district and rated as one of the big title threats in the state, fell in its first sectional skirmish last night at Freeport. The Depute team, champion of the Princeton district, came up with unexpected opposition to provide the upset with a one-sided 35 to 19 triumph. Waukegan's unbeaten team, another big favorite, was dropped by Thornton of Harvey, 43 to 35, in a free scoring game. A close score was anticipated in that game because Waukegan had defeated Thornton, 38 to 36, in an earlier contest this season but hardly a victory for the Harveyites.

With few exceptions, last night's games were extremely lop-sided in comparison with the first battles of the district tournaments. Herrin, which gained a sectional berth by luck of the draw, crushed Wilkesville, 51 to 16, in the biggest scoring splurge of the night. A close battle was fought at Joliet where the strong Downers Grove team, winner of the Stagg holiday tournament at the University of Chicago, finally defeated Bowen of Chicago, 30 to 27, after a furious struggle. The closest games were at Normal and Peoria where Mahomet edged out Potomac, 26 to 24, and Beardstown eliminated Kingman of Peoria, 28 to 26.

Favorites Triumph
University High, Freeport, East Peoria, Centralia and Mt. Pulaski, regarded as five of the strongest teams in their sections, came through with handy victories to keep in the big show. University High's triumph over Rantoul was especially impressive. The two teams had played twice before this season with 500 batting average against each other but last night, University High stepped out to win easily, 33 to 15.

Sixteen more first round games are on tonight's schedule after which the once bulky field will be trimmed to 32 survivors in the race that ends in the championship finals next week. Standouts tonight were Danville vs. Lawrenceville at Casey; West Aurora vs. Sycamore at Joliet; Benton vs. Johnson City at Carbondale; and Canton vs. Peoria Central and Monmouth vs. Galesburg at Peoria.

Last night's first round results and tonight's by districts:

KILLIFER HAS HOPES OF MUCH BETTER POSITION
Players Acquired During Winter Expected To Add Spirit

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Tired of standing pat and waiting for something to happen, the St. Louis Browns will toss a radically shifted lineup into the American League pennant race this spring, hopeful of shaking off the handicaps that have anchored the club in almost exactly the same spot for three years in a row.

They traded lustily during the winter with the Washington Senators, virtually picked the regular lineup before going into training camp at West Palm Beach and depend upon the "new deal" to produce results, even if actual pennant hopes still seem somewhere in the distant future.

It is an odd fact that the Browns have varied only a single game in the standing of the clubs since 1929. They won 64 and lost 90 in 1930, finishing sixth. In each of the next two seasons they won 63 and lost 91, dropping fifth place in 1931 and dropping to sixth last year as part of the parade of futility. The necessity of finding some escape from these doldrums was emphasized by Manager Bill Killefer when he pulled the strings that sent Lefty Stewart, Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte to the Senators in exchange for Lloyd Brown, Carl Reynolds and Sam West.

Got New Spirit
"The new men not only add new spirit to the team but will strengthen it as compared to the Browns of 1929," Killefer told The Associated Press. "I do not know where the Browns will finish in the race but I state here emphatically

Topeka, Kan., Mar. —(AP)—After 33 years of existence, the Western League may be forced to suspend play this season because of financial difficulties and prospect of a lean year ahead.

Rumors of such a fate for the oldest of the minors have been current several months. President Dale Gear last night said that unless there is a decided improvement in general business conditions within the next two weeks "I don't believe there is any chance for the League even to start up this year."

Due to the impossibility of finding 12 teams able to support the Western League brand of baseball, Gear said plans for two compact six-member circuits had been abandoned for the 1933 season at least.

The Western Association, the League's little sister, also headed by Gear, continued plans to start play.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16—(AP)—The difference between Babe Ruth's salary demands and the New York Yankees' offer has been reduced to a mere $5000 but otherwise the Babe and Col. Jacob Ruppert, club owner, are just as far apart as ever.

"Would you consider a contract for $50,000?" the assembled war correspondents asked the Babe yesterday.

"I am still standing pat on my offer of $50,000," came the reply. And that was that.

Miami, Fla., Mar. 16—(AP)—The last of the Brooklyn Dodgers' holdouts, Joe Stripp, has turned up at the training camp for a personal discussion of the matter with Treasurer Joseph Gilledeau but the first meeting between them failed to produce an agreement. There was plenty of time for further skirmishes today as a holiday was declared by Manager Max Carey to provide a break in the training routine.

Stripp has been wintering at Orlando and appeared to be in shape to step into a game.

that the team will show more good all-around baseball than last season.

"Defensively the Browns should be one of the best teams in baseball. We have added in Sam West the cream of defensive outfielders. He proved that last year by handling more chances than any other outfielder in the league."

"West will play center field and Reynolds left. Bruce Campbell will give us a real punch in right field. Rick Ferrell, when he signs up, will do the bulk of our catching. He had a great season in 1932 and should rank with any receiver in the league. I don't think our infield could be faster or better on defense. The youngster, Art Scharen, who came up from the Texas League late last season, gave one of the greatest exhibitions at third base that St. Louis fans have ever seen. He rounds out the combination, with the holdovers, Burns at first, Melillo at second and Levey at short."

Are Within Limit
The Browns will have no trouble cutting down to the player limit of 23 by May 15. In fact they are within that limit now. They have only one reserve infielder, Lin Storti, and two outfield substitutes, Tedd Gullie, who hit .354 in the American League last year, and Debs Garms, former Texas League slugger.

Killefer may miss his ace southpaw, Stewart, but he is relying on Irving "Bumpy" Hadley, George Blackholder, Lloyd (Lefty) Brown, Dick Coffman and Jack Knott for first-string duty. Hadley came from the White Sox early last year. Brown won as many games as Stewart last season, 15, and lost seven fewer decisions than the pitcher he replaces. Coffman came back from Washington, in exchange for Charley Fischer. Knott, a right hander, won 17 and lost 12 with Milwaukee in 1932. The veteran Sam Gray will head the rescue staff, aided by Wally Hebert, young southpaw, and perhaps Russell White, Newark, N. J., left hander, signed this week.

The addition of Muddy Ruel has strengthened the backstop reserves, which also include the veteran Benny Bengough, former Yankee.

Daniels Seen in Transport Post

Joseph Daniels, above, under whom President Roosevelt served as assistant secretary of the navy, is slated, according to informed Washington sources, to become the nation's transportation chief. He is expected to be named chairman of a new grouping of the interstate commerce commission, the shipping board and the aeronautics branch of the commerce department.

WAR TALK, HEARD IN CAPITALS OF EUROPE, ALARMS

Heads of the Nations To Confer In Effort To Keep Peace

BULLETIN
Geneva, Switzerland, Mar. 15—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald of Great Britain, announcing a new plan for peace and security to the world disarmament conference today, proposed an army of 200,000 men for Germany, doubling the maximum limit set by the Treaty of Versailles.

It also includes an effort to determine the numbers of effectives for continental European states, but no such attempt is made with regard to non-European countries.

The following definite figures are suggested for the chief European nations: Germany, 200,000; France, 200,000 for home defense and 200,000 for overseas; Italy, 200,000 at home and 50,000 overseas.

No figures are proposed for Great Britain.

The plan also embodies a draft disarmament convention providing for the reduction of tanks and heavy field guns and prohibition of air bombing. It also attempts to couple abolition of military aircraft with guarantees against the conversion of civil aircraft to fighting purposes.

It provides a pledge of a conference among the signatories of the Kellogg peace pact in case of a breach of its provisions, thus paralleling recent utterances by Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State in the Hoover cabinet.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Talk of war and of armament races stirred various European capitals today while the heads of chief nations were getting together to try to avert threatening clashes.

Isolated instances, which a few months ago might have passed almost unnoticed, aroused fear and suspicion.

Premier MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Simon of England will talk Saturday in Rome with Premier Mussolini in the Duce's first international conference in eight years.

President Daladier of France hastened to Geneva last night to see the British statesmen again after parleys with them last week-end. His decision came suddenly after the announcement they were going to Rome.

Hitler May Join
Unconfirmed reports in Rome said Adolf Hitler of Germany may join the Mussolini-McDonald conference while attempts to confirm this in Berlin brought the official response that "anything might happen."

Premier MacDonald has a disarmament plan drawn up as a final offering to break the deadlock in the international efforts to seek an agreement for reductions. Disarmament was officially reported as the subject of the conferences between the various premiers.

But unofficially a widespread belief is voiced, particularly in London, that a new order of European alliances, such as those that preceded the World War, is being organized. French government leaders are openly seeking an understanding with Great Britain and even the United States—calling it "democracies" against "dictatorships."

LETTERS TELL OF EXPERIENCE IN QUAKE ZONE

Dixonites Continue To Receive Reassuring News From West

Dixonites continue to receive reassuring news from relatives and friends in the California earthquake sector, all of which indicate no one from this community suffered any personal injury in the disaster.

Lee Redfern of 518 Peoria Ave., has received a letter from his daughter, Mrs. U. H. Ruck of Los Angeles, in which she stated:

"Just a few lines to let you know we are O. K. after the earthquake. Needless to say, we both had a terrific experience that we won't get over for some time to come. It was just 6 o'clock and we were ready to get away from an early supper table when the table began to tip over, the dishes rolled off, the whole apartment building began to sway and crack, and we knew we were having a good sized earthquake. We finally got to the door but the swaying of the building jammed it and it took us some time to get out. The pictures were knocked off the walls, radio tipped over and cupboards spilled groceries. The sensation is really terrifying. Your stomach starts coming up in your throat and you are more or less paralyzed on account of losing your sense of balance."

From Fred Garrison
Fred Garrison, a former Dixon resident, writing to relatives here from Anaheim said: "I was sitting in the front room reading the paper at about five minutes to 6

Friday evening when the first shock came. I did not go out until it was over. The lights went out and I got a flash light and went through the house expecting to find the plaster all down, but nothing was injured. It was soon followed by seven others, not so violent, and we had more that lasted until 6 o'clock the next morning. We did not go to bed at all."

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Rossiter have been reassured concerning the safety of their son, Russell, a student in the Santa Monica, Calif., high school, by receipt of a card from him saying he escaped injury in the quake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harek arrived home Wednesday noon from Los Angeles Cal., where they have been spending the winter. They were seven days making the trip, starting two days before the earthquakes.

"Let Us Unite In Banishing Fear"

"Confidence and courage are the essentials of success in carrying out our plan. Let us unite in banishing fear." Thus did President Roosevelt appeal for the loyal support of all Americans as he explained the government's plan for reopening banks and rebuilding the country's financial system from his desk in the study of the White House, as pictured here.

NEWS CHURCHES

CANTRELL CAMPAIGN

The union prayer meeting at the First Baptist church last night in behalf of the Grady T. Cantrell tabernacle meeting which will begin March 26 showed a new spirit of cooperation on the part of the Christian people of Dixon in getting back of this campaign with their prayers and good will. Rev. Cantrell was here a year ago in a meeting and there was such a strong desire on the part of all the churches represented for him to return within a year that he has consented to return to Dixon for another campaign beginning Sunday, March 26. The following services are planned for next week as boosters for the campaign. Tuesday night, Church of God; Wednesday night, Christian church; Thursday night, Brethren church. On Friday night there will be a big get-together meeting at the tabernacle at 7:30, followed by a special meeting for the large choir which will lead the congregation singing each evening. There is no red tape to go through with in order to cooperate in this campaign, all that is needed is a willingness to attend and help. Due to the fact that the tabernacle is already here and ready for use it will greatly cut down the expense and the financial obligations should not be a burden to any one this year. Those in charge of the meetings are greatly pleased with the hearty response on the part of those who are offering their services for special work in this campaign. Those who desire to render some special contributions to the success of the campaign should speak to their pastors and it will be treated in a confidential way. It was decided in the meeting last night to have a post card shower for Mr. Cantrell and everyone who will be requested to send him a post card assuring him of cooperation during the campaign. There should be at least 500 cards mailed him. Address him as follows: Evangelist Grady T. Cantrell, Hotel Muscatine, Muscatine, Iowa.

"The Little Brown Church" The "Little Brown Church" as given over the radio of Sunday afternoons, will be reproduced by the mixed quartet of the Brethren church next Sunday night at the Brethren church at 7:00 P. M. A similar service was given last Sunday night, and there were so many compliments and so many requests that it be given again that the quartet has consented to give another program next Sunday evening. The quartet will listen to the program as given over the radio and then reproduce it Sunday evening. The packed house that heard it last Sunday night will be delighted to have another opportunity to hear it. The public is invited.

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Beulah Western Thursday. Mrs. Lulu Hunter went to Chicago Wednesday to visit her niece, Mrs. Grace McCarthy. Grant Kingery of Oak Park spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Frank Reed and family. Miss Bertha Madison, R. N., who was called here by the death of her uncle, John Dick, returned to Chicago Tuesday.

Chicago—Paul Morton, who rode to Leavenworth, Kan., in a private compartment to enter the federal penitentiary, was ordered to return Saturday on the prison "special." Federal Judge Woodward dismissed contempt charges against Morton, brought back here by officials after prison officials had refused to admit him. He was sentenced on a liquor charge.

Chicago—The city council extended the thanks of the Chicago city to citizens of Miami, Fla., for their efforts in behalf of the late Mayor A. J. Cermak, assassinated there by Giuseppe Zangara. The aldermen also approved renaming Twenty-second street in honor of the Mayor's memory.

Evansville—Harold M. Finley who expects to receive a degree from Northwestern University in June at the age of 17, was honored by election to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. He entered Northwestern when he was 13 years old and led to formation of a class of youthful prodigals at the university last year.

Washington—The Radio Commission heard final arguments of three radio stations seeking the 1020 kilocycle clear channel used by station KYW of Chicago. KYW in proposing to retain the channel is opposed by WXYZ, Detroit; WCAU, Philadelphia, and WFAN and WIP, Philadelphia. No decision was made.

Chicago—A single shot fired by a robber killed Daniel Nardi, 24, as he stepped into the office of the Peterson Oil Company, where he was employed, during a holdup. The killer escaped with money snatched from the cash register.

Chicago—Mrs. Mary Farrar's patriotism cost her $470. Taking that amount in gold and gold certificates to a bank she had it changed into currency. On the way home three men robbed her.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANET HILL breaks her engagement with ROSE CARLEY after learning he has been going out with BETTY KENDALL, a society girl. Janet is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine, and Rolf is employed in an advertising office.

Janet is still much in love with Rolf and, though she tries, can not forget him. One night on a street car she meets JEFFREY GRANT, young engineer who has recently moved to the rooming house where she lives.

She does not see Grant again for some time. Then on a stormy March evening she walks down a street that is unfamiliar and almost loses her way. Coming back she sees a child crying in a doorway. The little girl is ROSIE SILVANI. Janet buys her a hot meal and sets out afterward to take her home.

They are on a dark street when a man catches Janet's arm and demands her purse. Rose screams and suddenly Jeff Grant appears. The holdup man runs and Grant takes Janet and Rolf to his car. They talk to PAT SILVANI, Rosie's father, who has been out advertising for nearly two years. The family is almost destitute.

On the way home Janet and Jeffrey decide to "adopt" the Silvanis. They drive to the home again Saturday afternoon. Jeff takes temporary work for Pat and gives Mrs. Silvani money to pay the rent so that the family will be disposed of.

Coming home he says to Janet, "I wonder if you would do something for me."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

JANET smiled. "Why, of course,"

she said. "That is, if it's anything I can do."

"I was going to ask if you'd have dinner with me," Grant told her.

"Afterward we might drop in to see a movie, or perhaps drive—"

The girl wasn't smiling now but there was more to the sudden change in her face than that. "I'm sorry," she said, "there's—I've sorry but an engagement. I'm awfully sorry but I'll have to keep it."

Grant nodded. "My bad luck,"

he said. "I should have asked you sooner, of course."

He talked about other things until they reached the rooming house.

He left Janet there, smiling as he called good-by, and drove away.

Janet went in the house and up the stairs to her own room. There was no other engagement, of course. Nothing but dinner to be cooked over the two-burner gas stove and eaten alone. Nothing but the book from the library that so far hadn't interested her.

She tossed aside her hat and coat and sank into a chair. Well, it was better to be alone than to go out and pretend to be having a good time. She tried that. The disastrous evening with Mollie Lambert and her friends!

Memories of other Saturday evenings came back to torment her—dinners here in this very room with Rolf across the table, dancing with Rolf at the Chinese restaurant, bus rides, walks in the moonlight, the time they went to Riverside Park and rode on the roller-coaster—

Presently Janet arose and began to prepare the meal. After she had eaten she washed the dishes, read two chapters in the library book and went to bed.

Whatever her worries may have been about Jeffrey Grant repeating his invitation, they proved groundless. She saw him several times the following week but always it was to consider the problems of the Silvani family. Jeffrey did not ask her again to have dinner with him. It was Janet herself who brought about their first social engagement and it happened in this way:

SHE telephoned his office Wednesday morning and when Grant's low-pitched voice came to her over the wire Janet said, "Mr. Grant? Oh, I'm so excited! I think I've found a job for Pat Silvani. Yes—a steady one! I want to tell you all about it. Do you suppose I could meet you somewhere at noon?"

Grant said, "Why, yes, of course. How about the Tavern, Coffee Shop? Could you be there at 12:15?"

She could. She was waiting just inside the door of the restaurant when he swung into view. They found a table for two at the side of the room and Janet began to pour out her story breathlessly. She was so excited she could scarcely take time to order lunch. Could they drive out to the Silvani's home tonight? It was something—the job—that had to be settled right away!

Finally Grant got the straight of it. Janet had told Bruce Hamilton about their "adopted family" and he had been interested. Hamilton had made inquiries, carefully and thoroughly in the Hamilton manner. One of the men who had been an officer in the building corporation employing Pat Silvani two years before happened to be a member of one of Hamilton's clubs. He knew nothing of the workman but knew someone who did. It had taken very little effort to establish that Pat Silvani was a skilled, intelligent workman, that he was trustworthy and reliable.

Bruce Hamilton laughed about it. "I had to do something for the fellow," he explained, "to get my secretary's mind back on my affairs. She hasn't been thinking or talking about anything else for a week!"

What Hamilton had done was to find out that the Channing store was about to hire another watchman for their warehouse in the block next to the Every Home office. It was a steady job, for which the main requirements were honesty and reliability. The pay would be $22.50 a week and Pat Silvani could have a chance at it if he would report to the employment office of the store next day.

Jeffrey Grant heard all this enthusiastically. "Why, sure!" he exclaimed. "We can drive out there right after work and tell him about it. Say, that's great! Swell of your boss to take such an interest. I'll get the car and stop around at your office for you—"

It was settled next day that Pat Silvani was to have the job. He went to work that very night. Pat's voice choked up when he tried to tell Janet how grateful he was. Rose could stop going nights to scrub. She'd need to be home with the children and with $22.50 a week—regularly—they'd get along famously.

In fact the Silvanis seemed so well cared for, so settled in their new security that Janet and Jeffrey Grant might have had little reason to pay them another visit soon, except for one thing. The circus came to town.

It was Jeffrey's idea but Janet instantly fell in with it. There were to be two Saturday performances—one in the afternoon and one in the evening. They made all the plans, even to consulting Mrs. Silvani, before Tommy and Rosie heard the news.

"Lord!" Jeffrey Grant said, "did you ever see two kids so excited? I thought Rosie's eyes were going to pop right out of her head!"

Janet laughed. "But she's never seen a circus. Tommy has and he's told her so much about it."

I'm almost afraid she'll be disappointed."

But Rosie wasn't disappointed and neither was Tommy, who found the new circus even more miraculous than the last. The day was exciting for the children from the moment they arose in the morning until, exhausted, they fell asleep. Rosie and Tommy were both dressed in their new clothes and waiting when Grant stopped the car before the door. It was a little crowded with all four of them in the roadster but they managed it. The ride in the automobile was a treat, particularly for Tommy, who so seldom left the house. The sight of the big tent sent Rosie into squeals of rapture and from then on the circus was an assured success.

They visited all the animals in the menagerie. They saw the lions, the elephants, the zebras and the baby camel that let Rosie touch its velvety nose. The hip-popotamus fascinated Tommy and he could scarcely be moved from before the big cage until Jeffrey mentioned that it was time for the clowns to appear.

Tent and found their seats. It was a typical circus, beginning with the impressive pageantry of a parade depicting a Roman emperor's triumphant return from war. Immediately afterward the three rings became alive with action. There were prancing white horses with beautifully plumed tails and manes. Acrobats flew through the air, diving from breath-taking heights. There were trained seals and a dancing elephant and girls in slim tights who rode bareback, leaping through paper hoops, always to land in safety, bowing and kissing their hands to the audience. There was the man who went into a cage with 12 snarling lions and cowed them into performing. All the while the band played and the ringmaster cracked his whip.

Rosie and Tommy each had a bag of pop-corn and peanuts. Oh, yes, it was a wonderful circus! It was too bad when it was all over at last but even circuses must end. Still there was one satisfaction for Rosie and Tommy Silvani—there was nothing on the entire lot that they had missed.

The roadster made a return journey to the Silvani home and the children were still talking, tired but exuberant, when Janet and Jeffrey said good-night. Yes, it had been a great circus. A great day indeed!

Somehow it seemed perfectly natural a little later for Janet to find herself facing Jeffrey Grant across a rose-shaded table in a quiet dining room. Janet was tired but she was happy, too.

"I don't know when I've had such a good time," she said. "It's been years since I've gone to a circus."

"Never miss them myself," Grant admitted. "I guess it's a weakness!"

It was a little later that Janet, leaning forward, said seriously, "You know, one thing that has impressed me so much about the Silvani family is how fond they all are of each other. They way Mrs. Silvani talks about Pat—and the children—and the way he talks about them, too! Even with all the hardship they've had they're devoted to each other!"

Grant nodded. "Yes, I've noticed that," he said. He raised his eyes then and at the look in them Janet's cheeks colored.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Even the speed and intensity so marked in the opening of the special session of the Senate of the new Congress could keep veteran observers from rubbing their eyes a bit at the great change which has come over that body.

And in the House — there were just so many new faces and such confusion that it was next to impossible to figure out what it was all about.

The turmoil in the house even confused the loquacious and irrepressible Blanton of Texas. To him went the honor of being the first member of the new Congress to address the chair. There was so much noise that Blanton got up and pleaded with the chair that he try to restore order among the members themselves and the galleries.

The serious, soft-voiced South Trimble, clerk of the House and presiding officer until the Speaker could be elected, tried but with little success. The "freshmen" democrats and republicans refused to be silenced.

A BIT AWRY—

It was the lopsided appearance of the senate rather than the confusion that made things there seem so strange. The large gaping space to the left of the republicans side from where desks had been taken to seat new democrats gave the chamber an unbalanced appearance.

Democrats were so closely quartered on the right that their desks were touching one another's.

The two big guns of the senate—Joe Robinson, the democratic leader, and Charlie McNary, the republican boss — will do their sharpshooting in the days to come from their old positions. Robinson is in the first desk on the front row, directly in front of Vice President Garner. McNary is about five desks over to Garner's left on the front row.

Perhaps the most striking thing in the seating arrangement, however, is that Dave Reed of Pennsylvania and George Norris of Nebraska are side by side. Reed only a few days ago tried to lead Norris out of the party, but failed.

READY! SET! GO—

But despite the turmoil of the opening of the session, it seemed clearly apparent that everyone was set and eager to go.

The rapidity with which things were done, especially in the senate was little short of amazing. The keynote in both houses seemed to be speed.

THAT jay-walking and jay-driving are a menace to public safety. Some people forget safety first.

The congestion of motor traffic in the business sections of cities makes it necessary that both the jay-walker and the jay-driver obey the traffic laws.

Some jay-walking is done thoughtlessly, some is done because they don't know any better, and some is done through pure meanness.

Some cut diagonally across the street without thought of self or motorist.

They often step in front of an oncoming car.

Some meet with accidents that a lifetime cannot repair.

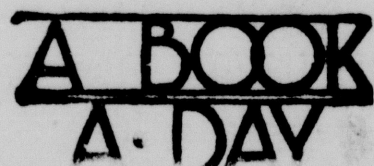

Some are killed.

Some jay-drivers still stick to the middle of the street, cut corners and pay no attention to traffic signs.

Some of them are arrested, some fined and some of them go to jail.

Most of them get away with it.

THE PENALTY FOR JAY-DRIVING COULD BE MADE SO SEVERE THAT IT WOULD BE STOPPED TO A GREAT EXTENT.

A FINE TALE OF THE SEA

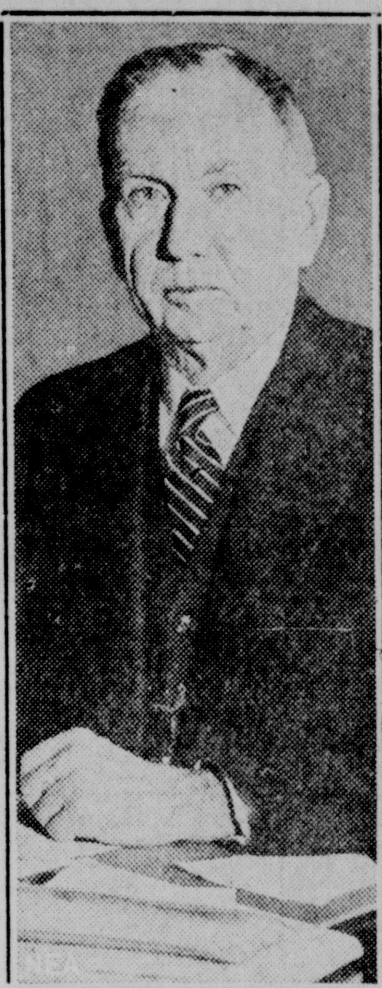

By Bruce Catton

It may be that "Grain Race," by Alan Villiers, isn't really nearly as good a book as it seems to me to be. Just at this moment it impresses me as being one of the finest stories of the sea in existence.

In it Mr. Villiers describes the last days of sail. The mighty wind-jammers of his book are the last of the square-riggers. There are only about a score of them on all seas, they are vanishing fast and when they go they are not replaced. Within a few years they will all be gone and there probably will never be any more.

Last year Mr. Villiers became half-owner of the Parma, an old square-rigger which was one of 18 such vessels engaged in the grain trade from Australia to England. His book tells of the voyage—a voyage which developed into a sort of unofficial race, with each ship trying to outtail its rivals. The Parma won—but not without a tussle.

Off Cape Horn she met a hurricane in which she nearly foundered; and Mr. Villiers' description of this storm is as exciting as anything in the great literature of the sea.

His crew was young—most of the sailors were under 20, and he could have shipped a thousand youths, if he had had room, so great was the number of young men anxious to sail on a square-rigger. He had a great voyage and he has made a great book out of it. "Grain Race" rates a place on the shelf beside Dana and Conrad.
